

National Association of Corporate Treasurers Holds Discussions in Chicago

CHICAGO, November 16, 2017 – The National Association of Corporate Treasurers (NACT: www.nact.org) announced today the completion of its Fall 2017 Treasurers Conference in Chicago. The NACT is a member-driven organization of treasurers from many of the leading public and private corporations across the country. “We more than fulfilled our theme of ‘Treasurers Talking to Treasurers’ with a lively discussion of key issues affecting our members as they meet their critical day-to-day responsibilities,” said Thomas Deas, NACT’s Chairman. In addition, NACT members heard updates from speakers including:

- Chatham Financial’s Luke Zubrod and Eric Juzenas on What Financial Reform 2.0 Means for Corporate Treasurers.
- JPMorgan’s Head of Interest Rate Strategies, Alex Roever on LIBOR Reform – What to Know and How to Get Ready.
- Morningstar’s Philip Straehl on his ground-breaking research on Shareholder Returns, Share Repurchases and Dividends – What Is Your Optimal Capital Structure?
- Cambridge Associates’ Jeffrey Blazek on his global economic analysis covering The Evolving Investment Environment and Implications for U.S. Corporations.

The next meeting of NACT members will be at its National Treasurers Conference at the Princeton Club in New York, May 30 through June 1, 2018.

For further information, visit www.nact.org or contact Thomas Deas at tdeas@nact.org.